

DISCIPLINES:
SURVEYING

WHO WE SERVE

> DEVELOPERS

LJB's experienced professionals protect the interests of owners and developers by helping them make the best decisions up front to benefit the long-term health of the project.

> MUNICIPALITIES

We understand the challenges municipalities face every day and each project comes with its own deadlines and budget constraints.

At LJB, surveying is more than locating points on the ground. It's about providing a visual image of the project and a framework for the designer.

By establishing existing geographical conditions, our surveyors can provide a 3-D picture of the project. This allows our designers to determine how proposed improvements will work within the existing property or facility.

Taking advantage of advanced data collection and layout equipment, our survey crews provide unsurpassed professional analysis and construction layout support.

With multiple survey crews in-house, LJB design professionals can complete projects from start to finish, including the initial field work and property research. Our crews get fast, accurate surveys without losing time for translation and coordination.
